

OCT-1990

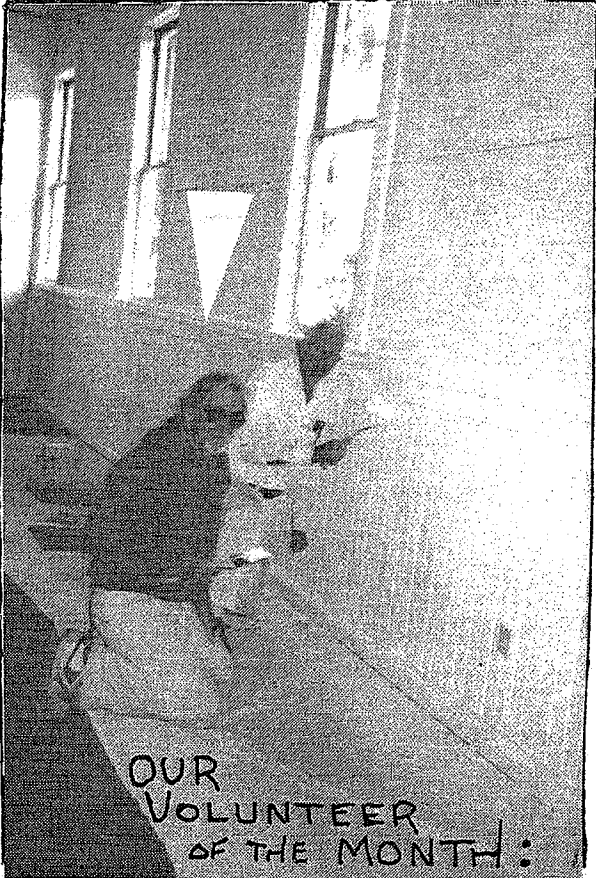

PRESIDENT'S PAGE

Hello again...September is here and that means school has started (unless you live in an area with year-round school and, if so, it's a real challenge to remember which grand-child is in school and which is on break!) and most vacations are over! However, some of our members are still away and others are making plans to do some traveling and I hope their vacations are as great as mine! Now I need to find time to put all my snapshots in albums...what fun it is to look at them and re-live our trip! Speaking of pictures, our 1991 calendars are on sale in our store so stop by and get yours. Remember, they make great gifts! They will be available at our September 24th. potluck/meeting so plan to join us at 6:00 P.M....we always have lots of delicious food. It is an important meeting with important things to be discussed so I hope to see you there. Be happy and stay healthy.

DON'T MISS!

Estella

GRANDPARENTS

When I proudly told my 8-year-old granddaughter I'd been attending Bible class for almost 50 years, she looked at me sympathetically and patted my hand.

"Don't worry, Grandma," she said. "Maybe this year you'll pass."

HOMEMADE FOR THE HOLIDAYS

 Margie Herms Hatcher (Life Member) is on her way (with a friend) to Vermont to view the colors and beauties of the season changes.

 From Rescue, Calif.

Finally-we are proud grandparents of a BABY GIRL ! Stephanie Elise (8lb.4oz.!) was born Aug.29th...I took some vacation time from work.
 We drove down for a whirlwind visit to help Carol out...Sorry-no time to visit...Thank you for the mention of Bill's Mom in the Newsletter...
 Hope Mrs. A is recovering from her fall. Best wishes to you all.
 Sincerely, Shirley Ann Cileski

From Gull Lake:

MARCY RICE writes: "I could talk a week about this summer - you are never too old to learn something new.
 The bears started coming into the camp 3 weeks ago, mother, 2 cubs and 2 singles. One was at our door; put his/her teeth thru the metal lid on our bird seed container, tipped it and left, didn't care for the seed.
 Another sat at our table and left his paw prints. The so-called bear proof dumpster doesn't faze them - they sit on the top, pull the lid down and put their paw in and grab what they can reach. They can spot an ice chest a mile off- thump it a few times and it opens and they eat!! The 2 cubs were in the Pine Tree near our RV. The camper next door put his light on, but the cubs wouldn't come down in the light and mom wouldn't leave without them. The lights finally went off and everyone left. * I can hardly wait until the Aspens turn. The wild rose bushes have yellow rose hips and the leaves are slowly turning. * A raccoon was on our table last night - I should leave him a goodie tonight.
 See you in October."

From Lihue, Hawaii:

ELAINE DRAPER writes: It's hot and sticky (90 degrees and the trade winds are missing)...We have enjoyed our 8 mo. at Sun Village but have moved to a "cottage" about 2 mi. from our construction site where we are building our new house, and hope to be in it in about 3 more mo... We will have a screened lanai off the kitchen so we are looking forward to many happy meals there... We have spent the day today nailing up the batts on the walls...very boring... Fun period:
 Time to decide on cabinets, ceramic tile, carpets and colors... Took the afternoon off and attended the County Fair... Smaller than the San Diego County Fair but didn't lack for anything... Time to pick up my hammer again. Dick joins me in saying hello to all of you. It's almost like my days in Lakeside. Cattle across the street & rooster ranch (fighting type we suspect) next door. (Stop in the store and read the whole letter!!!)

 From Millie Whaley - Conroe, Texas

I enjoy the newsletter...My dad Tom V.
 Prendergast, Sr. and brother Brian will be coming to Conroe Aug. 30 for a visit.
 We are looking forward to showing them around and getting to visit with great-grandchildren. We'll give them a real Texas welcome. God bless all of you for your fine work. Even tho' we live in Conroe, Lakeside is very dear and second home. --Millie Prendergast Whaley (Would be nice if Tom, Sr. and Brian would stop in the store and give us a first-hand account of their trip)

 From Merced, Calif.

Alice (Webb) Johnson and Nadine (Webb) Allinson, the Webb sisters, spent two weeks this summer visiting their brother Bob and nephews Chris and Tim Webb at Delta Junction, Alaska. They flew to Anchorage where Bob and Chris picked them up. Spent a couple days around Anchorage, and rode down the Seward Hwy. and saw the Portage Glacier and to Potters Section House and Historical Park, and also saw lots of dall sheep along the Hwy. Then went on a bus tour at Denali National Park, and saw lots of wild game in their natural habitat. Also went to Fairbanks to the University Museum and Alaskaland, and the Salmon Bake. (All you can eat of bar-b-que salmon, ribs and halibut.) Also floated down the Clearwater River in a canoe for three hours and saw a big bull moose eating off the bottom in the river.
 Went 4 wheeling and picked wild raspberries and blue berries.
 Saw lots of wild game while there. Also went to the Delta Junction's Fair where Bob played his harmonica with a band and had a sing-a-long. Visited the Northern Lights Dairy where Tim works, also. Had a very enjoyable time!

Back in Anchorage, before coming home Alice called an old timer Lakesider, Elizabeth Leng, and had a very nice visit with her on the phone. Also a brother-in-law of Nadine's came to the house to visit. Had a great time and Alaska is a beautiful place to visit!

After being home a few days, Dorothy (Strange)Bellante, also an old Lakesider, was up to Atwater to visit her sister, Doris. Went to Lakeside school together and hadn't seen her since high school days. Had a good reunion and shared Grossmont annuals and old pictures and caught up with the past and present happenings.

We hope to be at the Hometown Reunion Oct. 28.

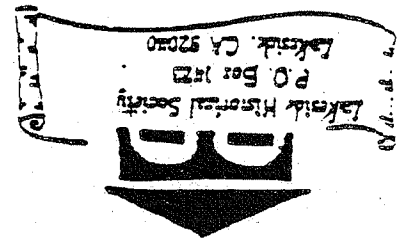

A swarm of Africanized killer bees, commonly known as "killer bees," have been migrating northward at a rate of about 200 miles per year, and are predicted to reach the United States at the Texas Rio Grande Valley by late this summer.

Earliest known land vertebrate had feet with more than 5 toes

Naturalists have long assumed that the same process of evolution that produced four-footed vertebrates, or tetrapods, gave them feet normally equipped with five digits each.

But new evidence suggests that the tetrapod line, which includes mankind, started out without any fixed number of fingers or toes and that the norm of five evolved only later on.

In a paper in the British journal Nature, Michael I. Coates and Jennifer A. Clack of Cambridge University reported that two specimens of the earliest land vertebrate species to be found both had more than five toes on each foot. The fossils were discovered recently in 360-million-year-old rocks in eastern Greenland.

The two salamander-like amphibians had eight and seven toes per foot. The only other known tetrapod fossil as old as these two is that of an amphibian, found in Russia some years ago, with six toes on each foot.

Coates and Clack concluded from the three fossils, the only ones of tetrapods known from such an early period, that when tetrapods first evolved from fish, the number of their toes had not yet been fixed.
